JOBS NOT RECOMMENDED:

Major Cities: Employment in large cities such as Miami, New York and Los Angeles. If a large city is submitted as a place of employment, the following must be demonstrated:

- The job is seasonal in its nature (example: zoos, aquariums)
- The employer has reasonably attempted to hire locals for the season and the placement will not displace U.S. workers.
- There is access to suitable, affordable, and safe housing.

**The Department of State provides these definitions:

Seasonal: Employment is of a seasonal nature when the required service is tied to a certain time of year by an event or pattern and requires labor levels above and beyond existing worker levels.

Temporary: Employment is of a temporary nature when an employer's need for the duties to be performed is a one-time occurrence, a peak-load need, or an intermittent need.

The regulations also include protections for U.S. workers. Each season, sponsors must confirm that the host employers with which they intend to place participants:

1. Will not displace U.S. workers at worksites where the participants are placed;
2. Have not experienced layoffs in the past 120 days; and
3. Do not have workers on lockout or on strike
